FOREWORD . . .

As the daily routine of campus life moves forward, each student plans and sets his goals.

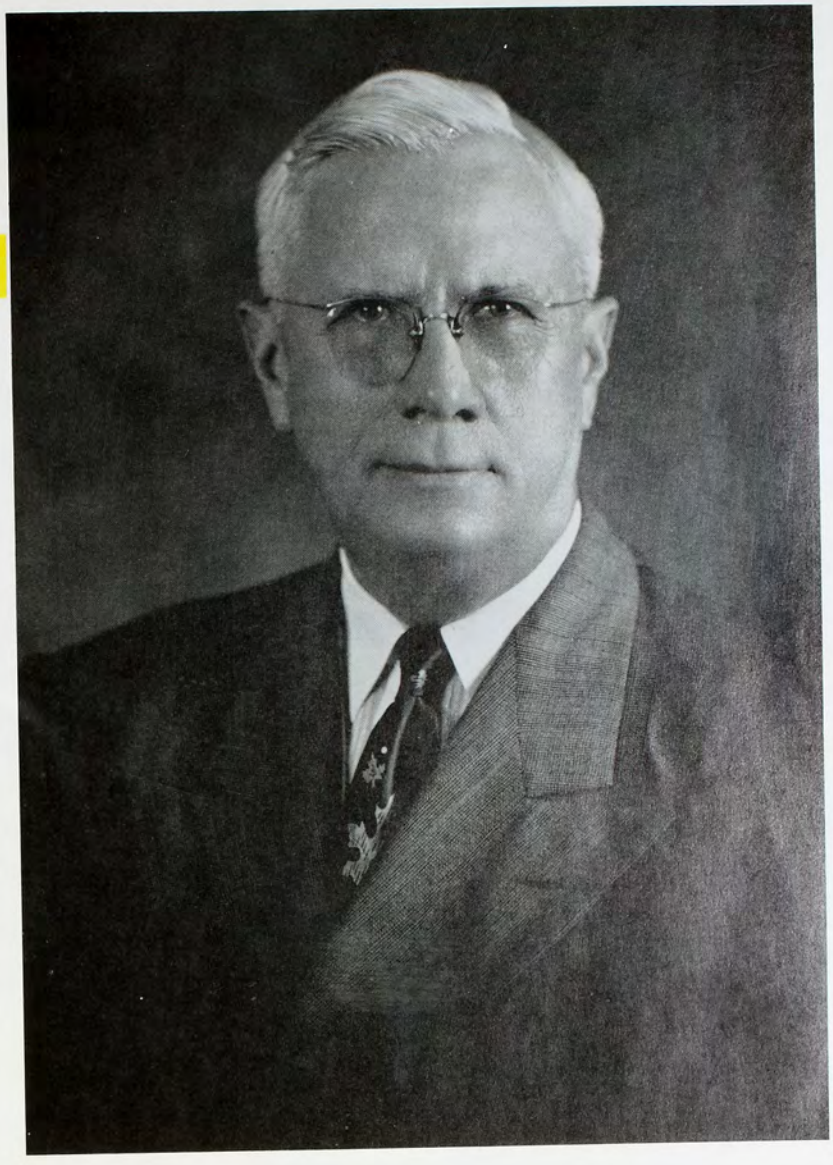

He strives day by day to meet his ideals and soon finds himself closer to graduation and the realization of his final objective.

He realizes that the attainment of his major goals has been made possible through the emphasis upon daily goals such as leadership, scholarship, sportsmanship, and the development of personality. Each of these has been gained through his classes, organizations, and the many events which have thus prepared him for service to his community and mankind.

Realizing the importance of these goals, we have taken them as the theme of our yearbook. Through layout and copy we have attempted to present them, however important they may seem, to the end that we may gain our goals.

The Staff

DEDICATION

LYMAN DWIGHT WOOSTER, President Emeritus
A.B., K.S.T.C., Emporia; Ph.M., University of Wisconsin; Ph.D., Stanford University.
Scholar, Teacher, Friend.

We salute a man who has given fifty years of service to the college and has set for himself and the school, high goals; some attained and some still challenging him and us.

Dr. Wooster has been Chairman of the Division of Biological Sciences, Professor of Zoology, and Dean of the Faculty. He was President from 1941 to 1949.

An ardent naturalist, he has published nature study bulletins and numerous magazine articles. As secretary of the Western Kansas Development Association, he edits the "West Kansan" and is at present working on the history of Fort Hays State.

He is a member of numerous honorary organizations, Sigma Xi, Delta Epsilon, Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Kappa Delta, and Phi Kappa Phi.

CALLING TO THE STUDENTS

The history of any region is one of advancing frontiers which were crossed and made useful for mankind.

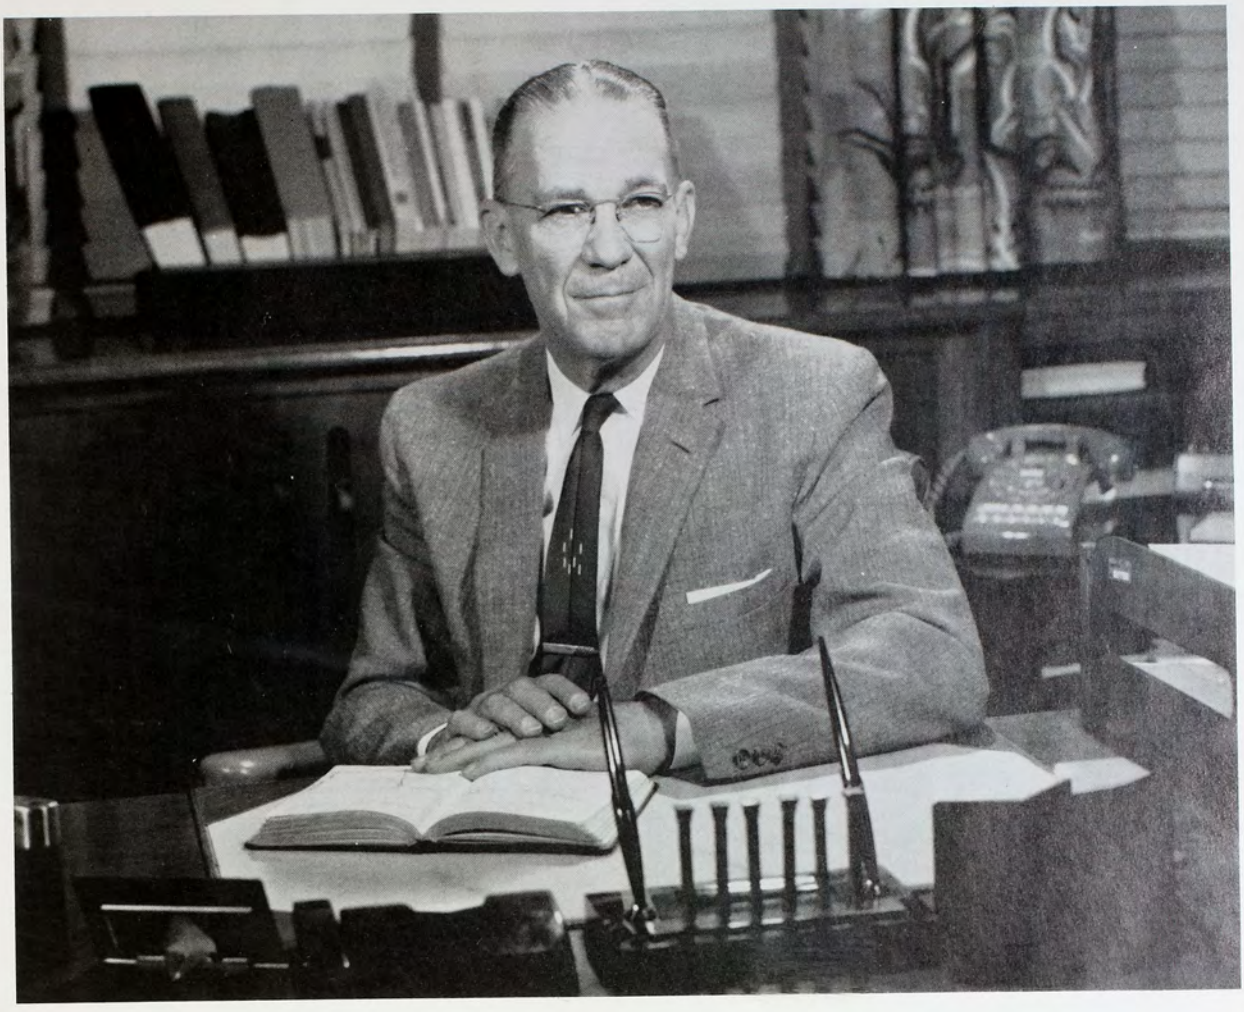

Our forefathers met, in turn, geographic, climatic, economic and educational frontiers. Now, in a world torn with strife, it falls to our lot to grapple with the problems of human relationships; not so much for the sake of peace, as of order, justice and mercy; not only for the sake of human rights, but also for the sake of human responsibilities; not so much for making a living, as for living—living together in families, communities, nations and world, with the good of all uppermost in our minds and hearts. The present attention of the whole earth is focused on this frontier of human relations.

And so to youth we would say: YOUTH, this is your frontier; this is the challenge of your day and generation. The bugle call of a world trying to solve its problems of human values calls on you to throw your lives into the tremendous job of entering and conquering this modern frontier; of building the purposes of human society toward higher and finer physical and spiritual levels. You are educating yourselves for responsive living; you have the ambition, the courage and the zest of youth; you can meet and solve these problems on the level of high purpose, vigor and intelligence. You have both the idealism and realism, the educational preparedness and the courage to tackle the job. This college has confidence that you can and will meet this great challenge.

—Lyman Dwight Wooster
Written for the fiftieth anniversary of the college. 1952.

THE PRESIDENT

A college education is composed of many facets. Each edition of the Reveille sets forth, in word and picture, these facets.

This year, special emphasis is placed upon four; namely, scholarship, leadership, sportsmanship and personality development.

Scholarship goes hand in hand with leadership and develops each student, in his own right as well as in his associations with his fellowman. Education is far more than merely gaining knowledge, per se. It is the complete development of the whole man. He must have intellectual breadth, integrity, moral and spiritual development and be able to make contributions to the welfare of mankind. This issue of the Reveille emphasizes the whole personality of Fort Hays State and how it attempts to contribute to the development of each student. It shows how goals are set and attained.

Educational goals are both immediate and long range and are both individual and collective. They are accomplished by acting today but, at the same time, looking into the distant future with definite goals and accomplishments yet to be attained. Such goals can be attained only by high standards of performance, a truly liberal education, fine qualities of leadership and a genuine human understanding and appreciation of the very best of our culture.

Broadly educated men and women are necessary to the progress, security, and well being of our nation and of the world. We must have citizens with knowledge, supported by interest, ambition and initiative to develop the leadership and the total personality that we want our citizens and our nation to have. All young men and women should develop their talents and abilities to the highest potential. We shall all be citizens of society and the kind of citizens we are will depend upon what goals we set for ourselves and how hard we strive to accomplish them.

— M. C. Cunningham

BUILDINGS . . .

The doorways through which we pass daily during our college career are mere symbols of the contribution of each campus building to a well-educated individual, not only academically but also to enable him to live in harmony with other people. The whole picture of the campus is not complete without the many and varied aspects of a college campus.

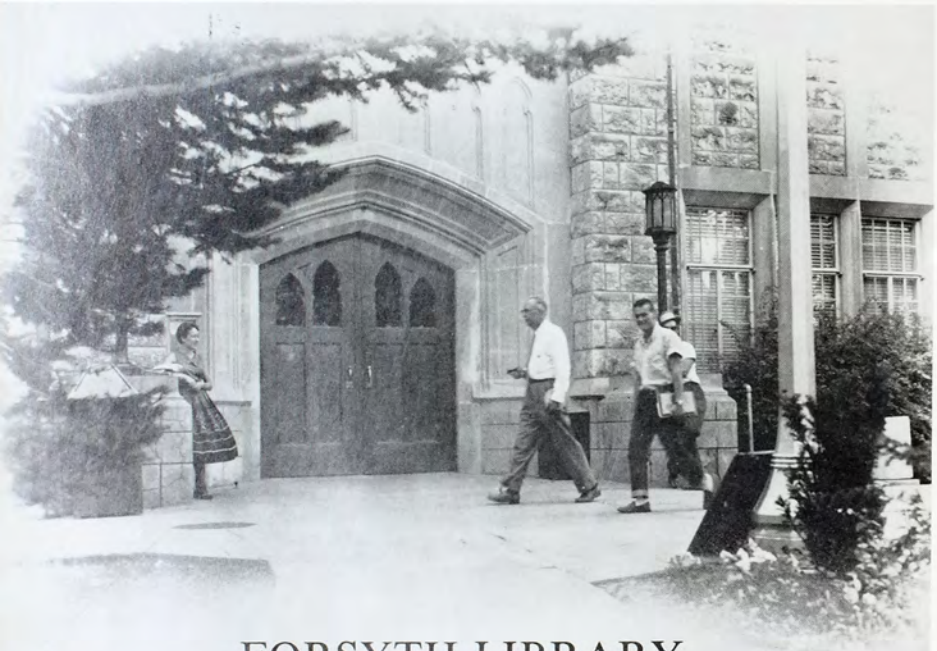

Sounds of music, laughter and busy office machines emanate from various buildings. The odors of oil paint, sawdust and chemicals are wafted through the air. Studying among the books, references, magazines and records, cheering with the student body at a football game, attending a dramatic or musical production, or participating in an organization is but part of the whole picture of our campus community.

FORT HAYS COLLEGE

On the plains of Western Kansas
Stands a school we all love well.
'Twas built by the toil of our fathers;
To its glory our voices swell.

Hail to old Fort Hays State!
Let your voices ring!
Praise for the Black and Gold
We will ever sing.
Long may our valor last
Through the future days,
Hon'ring and praising
Dear Fort Hays.

RARICK HALL

SCIENCE HALL

Within the college is a body of nine elected representatives of the faculty and three ex-officio members, the Registrar, Dean of the Graduate Division, and Dean of the College, entitled the Faculty Senate. Serving as a clearinghouse for all academic matters, this body supervises the catalogue, schedule of classes and the advisement program.

Daily the faculty and administration of Fort Hays State molds and guides the student's life as he grows in his college career.

Within the college the student is offered opportunities in many fields; liberal arts, letters and sciences, applied arts and sciences, music and pre-professional training. Not only do the classroom lectures affect the student, but also during his student life he come to know the philosophies of his instructors and to feel their friendliness and leadership.

These are the people serving the college who are responsible for the administrative and academic aspects of Fort Hays State—the faculty and administration . . .

FACULTY

CLASSES . . .

Quietly the buildings would stand on the campus, if the students were removed. But without the students who inhabit the campus, it would be lifeless.

The laughter over coffee in the Memorial Union, the heated discussion in front of Picken Hall, the shouts of delight at the basketball game, and the shuffle of feet at the dances —all are sounds produced by the student, all must be inherent in the college to make it live.

One of the more important components of our college picture is the student pursuing his education. As the student seeks the higher truths, he strives to maintain the balance between specialization and the general subject matter.

These students, some of whom have just begun their college career, some of whom have completed or nearly completed theirs, prepare themselves for their chosen vocations, whatever they be. They are the all important — the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduates who, at Fort Hays State, comprise the classes . . .

SENIORS . . .

Meeting informally are the senior class officers: Tom Gilmore, vice-president; Connie Eaton, secretary-treasurer; and Darrell Schaffer, president.

For 474 seniors, the goal of graduation is near. Some complete requirements for graduation in January; most of these will finish their undergraduate work at the close of this semester; others will attend summer school and graduate July 30. We salute the seniors, Class of 1959.

THE GRADUATE DIVISION

Top row: Dr. Leonard W. Thompson, professor of economics and business, chairman of division; Dr. Eugene R. Craine, professor of history; Dr. Edwin P. Martin, associate professor of zoology; Dr. W. Clement Wood, professor of education, chairman of division. Front row: Dr. Verna M. Parish, professor of English; Dr. Doris V. Stage, professor of chemistry; Dr. Ralph V. Coder, Dean of the Graduate Division.

This spring Fort Hays Kansas State College announces the establishment of a Sixth Year Program leading to the Specialist in Education Degree. This professional education degree requires thirty hours of graduate work beyond the master's degree. It emphasizes specialization in a particular phase of school work—teaching, school administration, supervision, curriculum, counseling and educational psychology. Each student's program is designed to meet his individual needs and his abilities. Applicants must hold a master's degree, have two years of successful teaching experience and must have decided on a field of specialization.

The Graduate Council is appointed by the President to regulate and supervise all graduate work and to recommend to him for graduation the students who have completed all the requirements for a Master of Science degree. The Dean of the Graduate Division is chairman and two other members are named each year to serve for three years. The Council considers all policies of the division, recommends members to the graduate faculty, and decides upon practices used in graduate work. Any exceptions to the rules are acted upon by the Council and administered by the Graduate Dean.

A rapidly growing area at Fort Hays State is the Graduate Division, which was established January 9, 1929. In the thirty years since its founding the division has grown from a mere handful to an enrollment of 150.

On this page are pictured a few of those who form a vital and important part of the student body.

Planning the programs, making the arrangements for a meeting room, numerous phone calls and decisions are but a few of the "behind the scenes" duties that membership in an organization requires.

An opportunity to provide the student government, discussions and research in your specialized fields, promotion of a deeper Christian thinking and living, recognition of leadership in general and special fields—these are the opportunities and services afforded you by the Fort Hays State campus organizations . . .

Scholastic achievement among college students of American universities and colleges is recognized and rewarded by membership in Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society.

Students are chosen on the basis of scholarship, not only in academic work, but also through participation in activities and outstanding service for college.

Invitations to become members in this nation-wide honor society are extended to the top junior class student, seniors from the upper 12½% of class and outstanding alumni and faculty members.

Pictured are the new members who were on campus this spring.

HONORS SEMINAR

The Honors Program offers to students of outstanding intellectual ability, an opportunity to participate in the highest academic privilege offered by this college.

Under the guidance of faculty consultants, small groups of students study broadly challenging topics. Emphasis is placed upon independent study, and the exploration of areas in which the student would like to know more. In these meetings the students meet with conflicting ideas and interpretations of students of their own mental calibre.

Admission to this program is by invitation. A student must have a record of outstanding achievement in several subject fields beside that of his major. He must also demonstrate the willingness to work and have the ability to communicate his ideas effectively.

The Honorary Ambassadors of good-will are responsible for acquainting high school students from their home towns with Fort Hays State.

An ambassador is selected from every town and community represented by a student who attends Fort Hays State. The group is selected by the student leaders on the basis of ability to take the responsibility of encouraging the high school students to attend Fort Hays State.

The ambassadors visit the high schools during the spring and summer as well as during the various vacations such as Christmas, Easter and between semesters and speak to the students about Fort Hays. This program acquaints and brings many students to our campus.

There are 209 ambassadors who do the good-will work for the college under the direction of Hugh Burnett, director of the extension service.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

International Relations Club members are noted for their interest in foreign affairs.

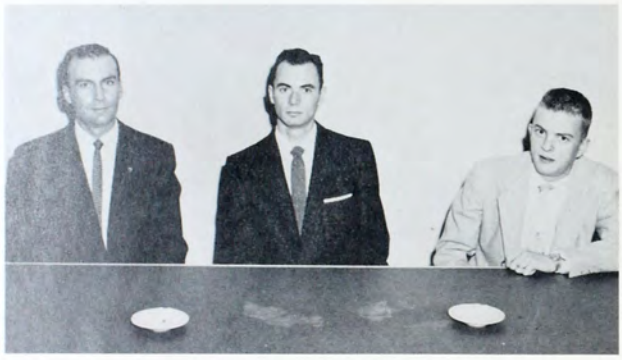

They promote better world relations by giving a scholarship to a foreign student and take the responsibility of making that student feel at home in America, Western Kansas, and at Fort Hays State, both on and off the campus.

This year the scholarship recipient was Helen Amundsen of Norway. Included in the club's membership are Luis and Carlos Revilla and Sombat Sangrungruang of Thailand. Foreign students speak and visit with many groups around the area.

The club sponsors the annual Leap Week dance and the Bearded Joe and Daisy Mae contest as a money making project to help finance its program.

The statesmen were not farmers themselves, but visited farms to enable them to take home better ideas for farm management and instruction for teachers in vocational schools in agriculture and home economics.

They were guests of the International Relations Club while they visited in Hays.

CUSTER HALL . . .

One of the first problems confronting freshman women on entering college is learning to live together as a part of a 200-member unit in a dormitory like Custer Hall. Adjusting to new roommates and routine of living offers a challenge for each girl as she learns to fit into the pattern of community life.

Signing in and signing out at Custer Hall becomes part of the routine. The girls have a busy life in their college home. In addition to campus events and activities, Custer Hall residents find time to participate in intramurals, to entertain faculty guests, plan and complete a float for Homecoming, partake of the Thanksgiving and Christmas buffets, plan a Christmas basket for a needy family, hold open house, teas, a spring formal and hour dances.

The freshman women are divided into eight groups. Each week an upperclass counselor meets with the girls to discuss the problems that face a freshman, from etiquette to dating, to disliked courses and low grades. Each freshman is encouraged to bring her personal problems to her counselor.

AGNEW HALL . . .

Balmy fall days bring the girls to the porch.

Governing without a written constitution, 144 upperclasswomen and 28 freshman women in Agnew Hall have house rules and an elected house council which enforces these rules. Residents find that living at Agnew provides an abundant social life. The girls entertain faculty guests in an effort to become better acquainted with their instructors. They set aside one night a week to dress up for dinner. As special projects they planned and worked together on the Homecoming float and house decorations, participated in the intramural program, and planned Thanksgiving and Christmas buffets, hour dances, and a fall formal.

Next best to seeing is hearing.

RESIDENCE HALL . . .

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

Within the walls of Residence Hall is a spirit of sportsmanship and school loyalty known over the campus. In this homey and personal atmosphere 177 college men work, play and live together.

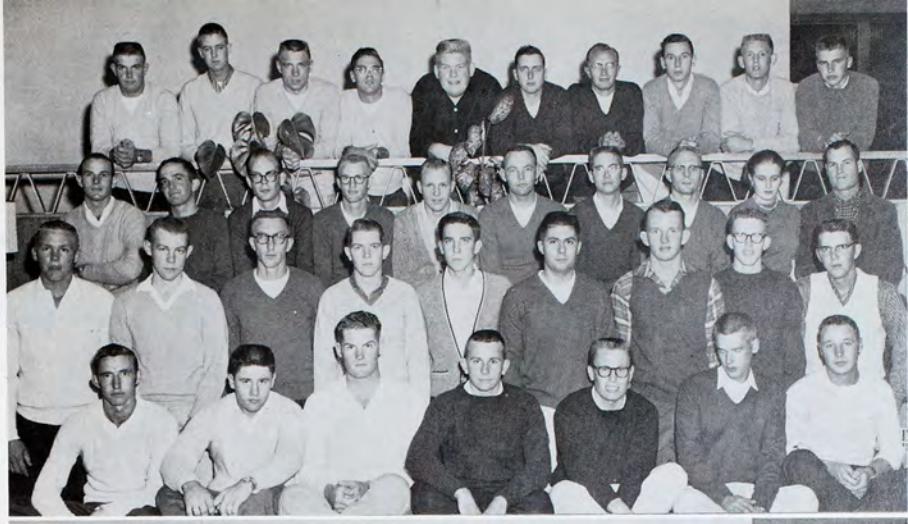

The men have set up a dorm council that plans activities such as hour dances, a spring formal, guest nights once a week and exchange dinners with Agnew and Custer Halls. This council also enforces dorm policies.

Touch football begins early in the fall semester with nightly practices on the front lawn. A few high passes make the receivers run to keep the ball from going into Big Creek. The men also participate in the intramural program on campus.

Serenading a girl who has become "pinned" to one of their members is a traditional gesture of congratulations among fraternities.

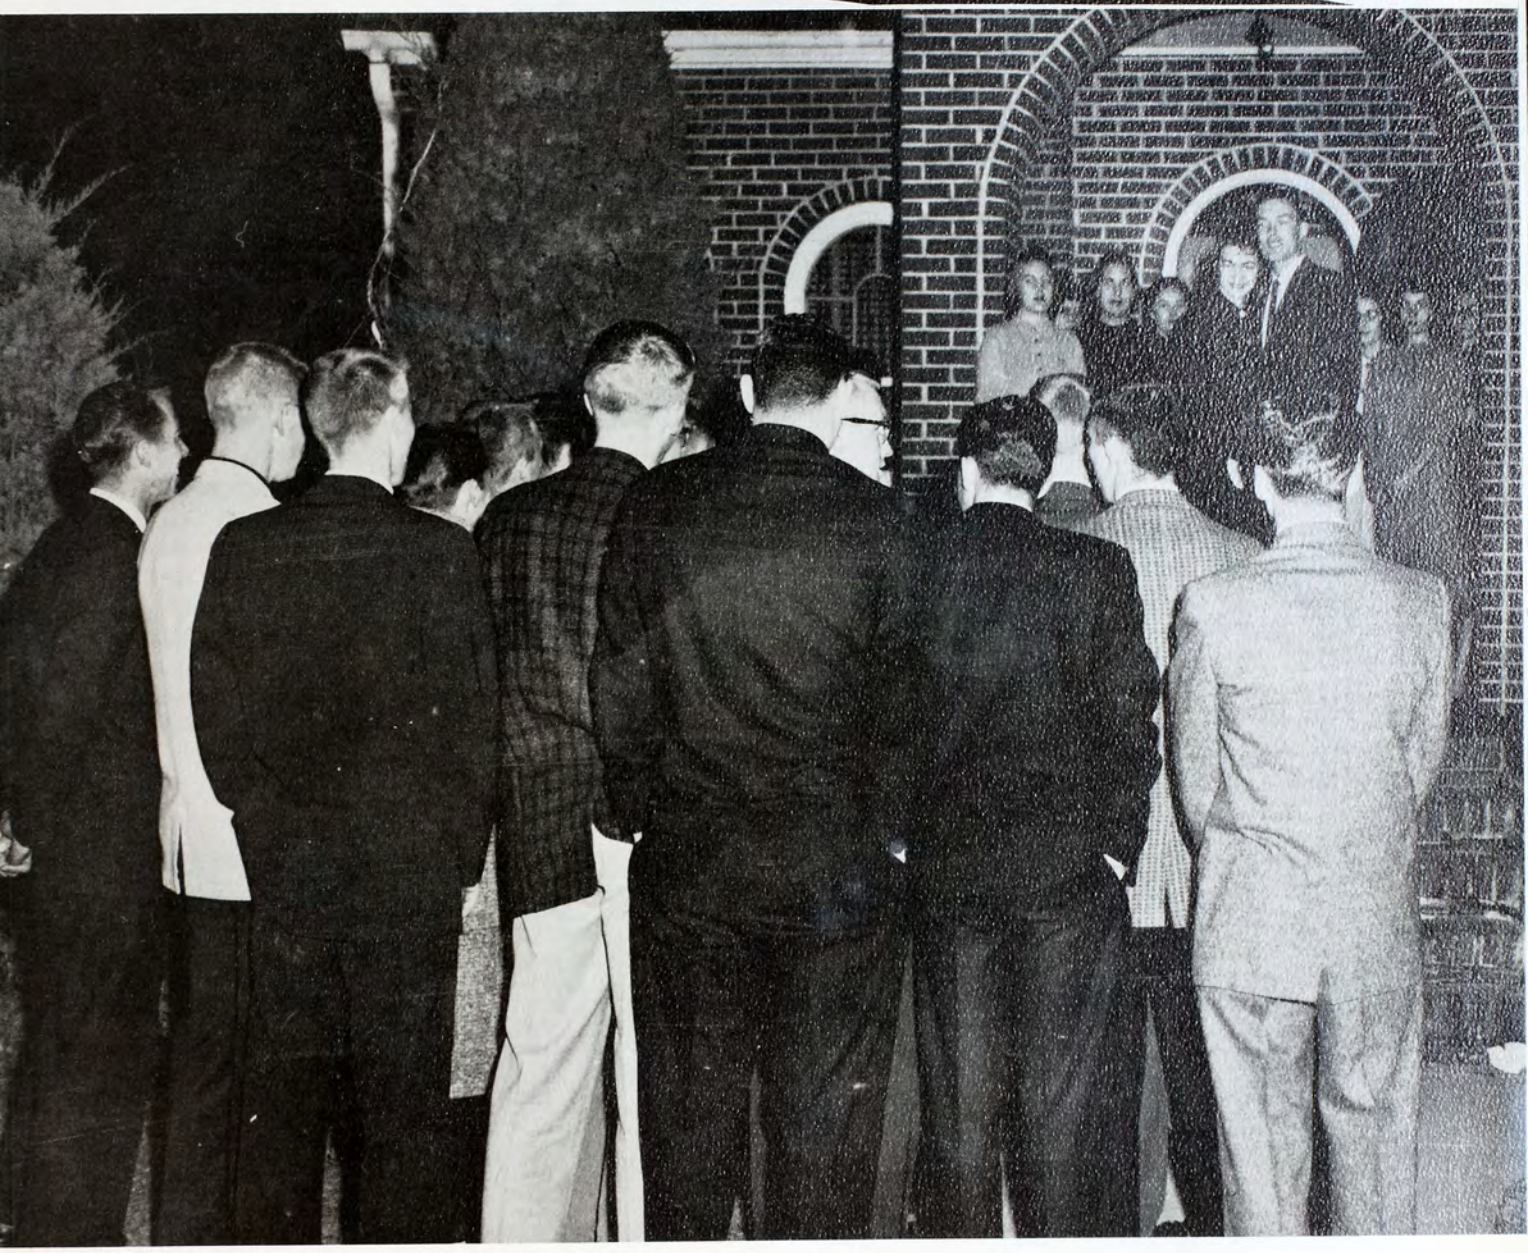

In the years since they were founded on the Fort Hays State campus, Greek organizations have become an integral part of college life for many students.

Fraternities and sororities provide opportunities for harmonious living in the relaxed atmosphere of a home.

Meeting weekly, fraternities and sororities promote scholarship, character and leadership. Stress is placed on ethical and moral standards.

Cooperating in social and service projects to train themselves for the future are the Greeks . . .

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

The purposes of Panhellenic Council are to unify the social sororities and to provide government as necessary. Each fall the Council sponsors a tea for freshman women. In addition, Panhellenic Council regulates Rush Week activities and plans a pre-Rush Week party for the sororities and prospective rushees. The Council awards a scholarship shield each semester to the sorority with the highest composite grade average. Erma Fross served as president this year and two representatives from each sorority completed the Council roster. Jean Stouffer, Dean of Women, acted as sponsor of the group.

The Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council work together in organizing the All-Greek Formal and Banquet, the All-Greek Sing, and Greek work days in the fall and spring. A new project this year was the leadership school for officers of campus organizations, conducted this spring. The Student Council, Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council had charge of organization and administration of the school.

Erma Fross and Marcelene Harper chat with Mary Frances Dale, Karen Cronic, and Ruth Baker during the brunch for freshman women.

Members of several fraternities and sororities paint cooperatively during Greek Work Day.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council strives to co-ordinate and regulate the Greek fraternities. The Council organizes useful projects among the social fraternities and makes decisions, in conjunction with Panhellenic Council, on general Greek policies when necessary.

This fall the Council sponsored an all-fraternity banquet, which stressed scholarship. A trophy is awarded by the Council to the fraternity with the highest grade average. James Habiger was president and Richard Burnett, Dean of Men, acted as sponsor of Interfraternity Council. Two men from each fraternity completed the membership of the organization.

The Junior Interfraternity Council is reorganized every semester for new members of social fraternities. It is composed of two members of each fraternity's pledge class, usually the president and one other, and operates for the period of pledgeship, which is about fourteen weeks.

Junior I.F.C. serves as a leadership training school and better acquaints pledges with fraternities, giving new members a chance to form and express opinions on Greek matters. It provides I.F.C. the opportunity to explain various fraternity and college policies.

Although Junior I.F.C. does not emphasize social activities, it did sponsor a successful dance for pledges of all sororities and fraternities.

Alpha Sigma Alpha held hour dances with fraternity groups throughout the year. Work on their homecoming float was fun as well as rewarding when they received an "honorable mention" for their entry.

Greek Work Day found the Alphas cooperating with the other Greeks in "painting the town." The Alphas worked with the Union Dance Committee in decorating for the all-school Christmas dance.

"Underwater Winter Fantasy" was the theme chosen by the pledges for the Alpha Winter Formal. This was entirely a pledge project.

At Christmas time the Alphas went caroling in a group with their brother fraternity, Sigma Tau Gamma.

An entry in the Follies, participation in the Greek Sing and other spring activities rounded out a full year for the sorority.

The end of Leap Week found Elgerine Roth elected Daisey Mae.

Moving into a new house at 703 Fort signalled the beginning of the year for Delta Zeta. Once settled, the chapter entertained the alumnae with a tea to open their social calendar. Immediately the girls embarked upon a series of activities: they joined other Greeks during Greek Work Day; spent hours on homecoming decorations; attended the All Greek Formal. Rush Week brought the chapter 16 pledges, who were orientated into sorority life by hostessing the Christmas formal December 11.

Between these events, Deltas found time for active campus participation. Kathy Anderson and Vina Oldach served on Student Council; Dixie Brown was president of Campus Boosters. Diane Amos was vice-president and Jan Ball secretary of the freshman class. Connie Nelson Staples and Dianne Miller were elected to Who's Who. Mary Desbien served as vice-president of Panhellenic Council and assistant editor of the Reveille, while Kathy Anderson was elected vice-president of Campus Boosters.

During second semester the Deltas worked on their Follies number, "Carousel" and Greek Sing. They sponsored two money-making projects and a spring formal. A highlight for Delta Omega chapter was the State Day Convention May 9, of all State Delta Zeta chapters.

Members of Delta Zeta sorority and their dates enjoyed a gay time at the winter formal.

Winning the 1958 spring semester award for scholarship launched the year for the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. Presentation of the award was made at the All Greek banquet. Announcement was also made that the sorority was raising the grade average requirement to 1.5.

Greek Work Day found the Tri Sigmas lending a helping hand, with other greek organizations, to help beautify the town. Their work schedule also included a shoe-shine day as a money-making project.

"Oriental Dreamland" was the theme of the Tri Sigma fall informal. Alumnae were entertained at a tea during homecoming activities.

Using the themes "Seeing is believing" for house decorations and "Fit for a king" for float, the Tri Sigmas placed second in both divisions.

Honor-wise, Tri Sigma did well this year. Kay Ann Kaufman was chosen Reveille Beauty Queen, and three of the Fort Hays cheerleaders were Tri Sigs.

An informal, a spring formal and another work day were included in the spring activities of the Sigma sorority members.

"An Oriental Dream" formed the theme and backdrop for members and guests of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

A "shoe-shine" proved to be a profitable project for members of the chapter.

The Thetas received thirteen pledges during Rush Week and four during Open Bidding.

Other activities of the year were hour dances, Greek Sing and the Fort Hays Follies. A chili supper proved a most profitable project for the group.

In addition to its group activities, Theta Sigma Upsilon has had many individual honors. Karen Seery was chosen Sweetheart Queen. Deanna Lockman edited the Reveille and was vice-president and president of SNEA; Bonnie Rogers-Nelson edited the State College Leader and was first semester president of SNEA. Judy Hegwer presided over the Tigerettes. Connie Eaton served as Student Council secretary.

ATHLETICS . . .

"Go, Tigers, go!" With a keen sense of pride and loyalty, you identify yourself with the cheering student body.

The school spirit holds you and your fellow students together through wins and losses.

Promotion of standards is obtained through observation and participation in athletics . . .

FOOTBALL

The Fort Hays State campus experienced a surge in school spirit that was reflected in the performance of the Tiger football team. The wave of spirit came just in time for Homecoming, and was perhaps the high point of the entire season, finding Fort Hays State winning over Pittsburg State 16 to 7. At the close of the season the Tigers found themselves in third place in the CIAC conference standings.

An intregal part of the student spirit are the school colors, black and gold. The old colors of blue and gold were changed to the present colors at the suggestion of president W. A. Lewis, who came to the college in 1913. Another tradition to be found at all Fort Hays State games is the college Fight Song, "Go Hays Tigers." The Fight Song has been played for as long as anyone can remember.

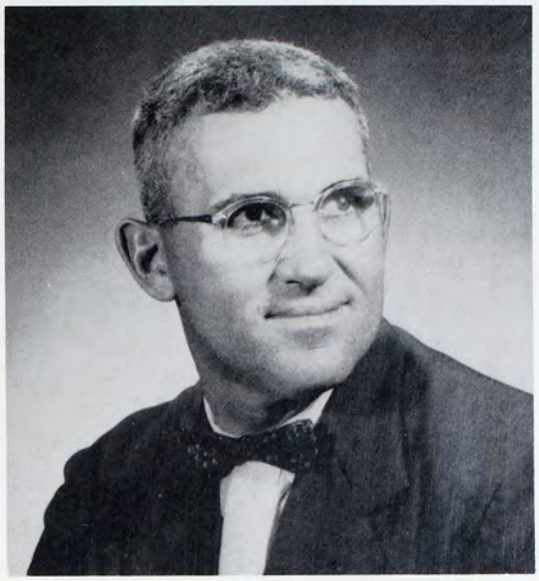

Of course the true goal of any student body is to support its team—win or lose—a goal which has been partially realized this season at Fort Hays State. Working together in the future will see its full attainment.

Leading the cheering section all season are four of the cheerleaders: Jeanie Morrow, LaVonne Bridges, Justine Beatty, and Kay ImMasche.

WAYNE McCONNELL

ED McNEIL

McConnell, who is in his third year as head football coach at Fort Hays State, attended college at Kansas State, Emporia State College, and Washburn University. He has been coaching since 1943 and experienced winning seasons at Effingham, Gaylord, Downs and Manhattan high schools before beginning a six-year regime at College of Emporia.

His success at Emporia has become an athletic legend in Kansas as his teams won 39, lost 12, and tied one during the six-year era. In 1953 he was named Little All-American Coach of the Year by the Rockne Foundation.

McNeil, line coach for Fort Hays State, served under Coach McConnell at College of Emporia but had a year at North Dakota University as line coach before rejoining McConnell at Fort Hays State.

He played four years of football at Kansas State and was named to the All-Big-Seven Conference team in 1949. He was also a third team All-American selection.

In his second year on the Tiger coaching staff, McNeil was a regular tackle on Kansas State football teams in the late 1940's. He received honorable mention recognition on All-Conference grid teams and was named to an All-American third team.

Throughout the season, Fort Hays State had the aid of three assistant coaches. Art Newcomer was an all-conference fullback at Bethany College before serving in the Army. He recently joined the Fort Hays coaching staff as a graduate assistant, working with the junior varsity.

Merle Garey played for Washburn in 1948 and for Fort Hays for three seasons after serving in the Army. He coached at Ellis High School before coming back to Hays as a graduate assistant.

Don Dempewolf, after playing three years as an end and halfback for Fort Hays State, is now serving as chief scout and working with the junior varsity squad.

The recipient of the "Busch" Gross Award as the outstanding senior athlete from the 1957-58 school year is Dan Johnson. The award is selected by a committee on the basis of leadership, scholarship, citizenship, and ability.

PAUL "BUSCH" GROSS, director of athletics

"Bush" was a Fort Hays State athlete in 1917-21 and later was a successful high school coach at La-Crosse, Howard, and Augusta. He returned to his alma mater as head basketball coach in 1930 and his cage teams won two conference co-championships. He has been director of athletics since 1935 and has served on the faculty at Fort Hays State for 28 years.

In his honor, the "Busch Gross Award" is given each year to the outstanding senior athlete on the Tiger campus.

BASKETBALL

CADE SURAN, basketball coach

After twenty-five years of successful coaching, the 1958-59 season has been one of the best for Coach Cade Suran.

The 1959 team has rolled to 18 wins against 2 losses for the best mark in Coach Suran's 13 years as head Tiger coach. The only conference defeat was a 63-61 overtime game at Pittsburg despite a brilliant come-from-behind effort.

Fort Hays State hadn't won the CIC basketball title since 1950, which was Suran's 4th year at Fort Hays State. In that season Fort Hays State had a 10-2 win-loss record in league play and 19-8 for the season.

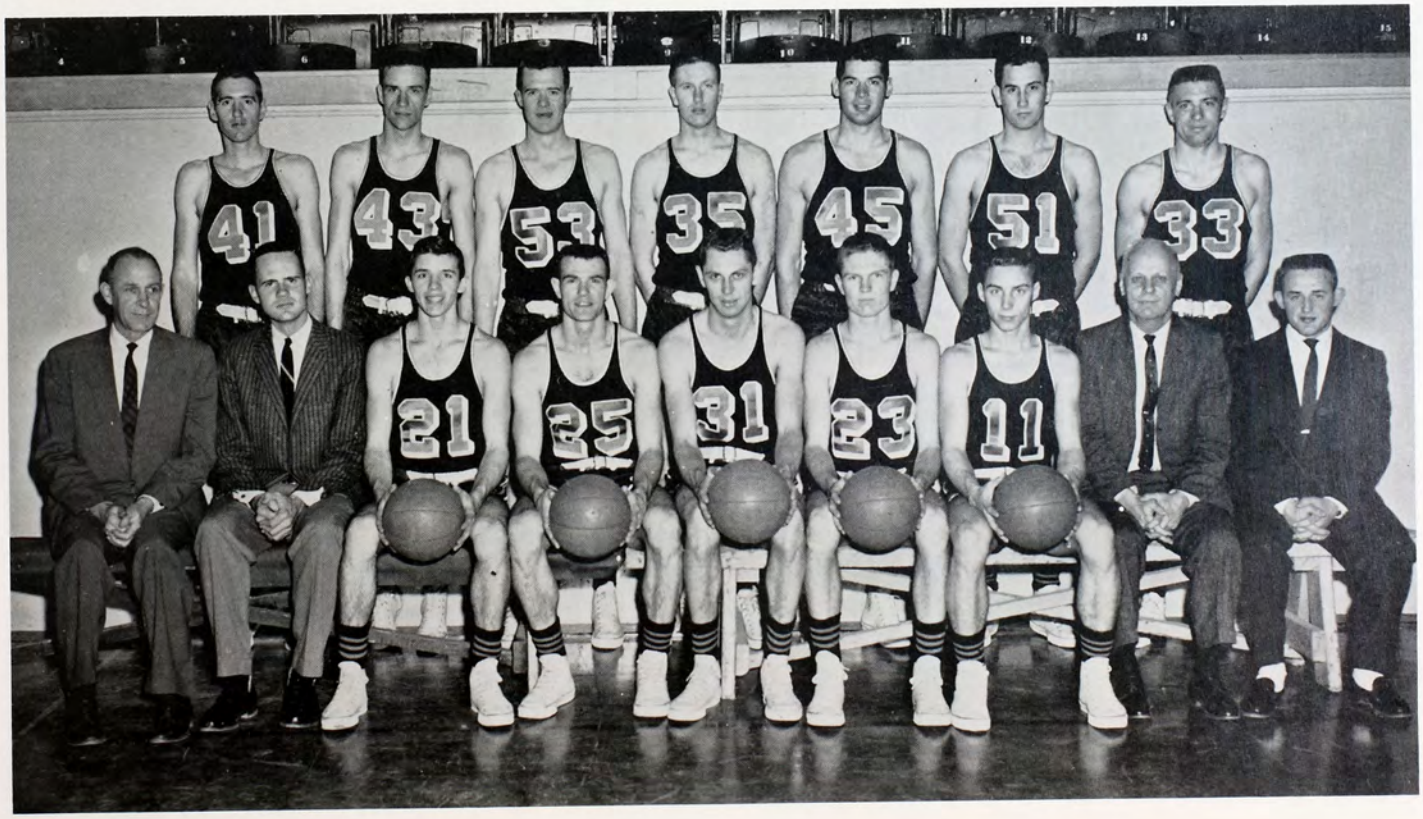

Suran had twelve years of high school coaching experience in which his teams won 85% of their games before he came to Fort Hays State in 1946. Formerly an all-Kansas Conference forward and leading scorer at Kansas Wesleyan, he coached 2 years at Harlan and 5 each at Downs and Wellington.

During his 13 years at Fort Hays State, Suran's teams have won 173 and lost 102. The 1949 team finished with a 17-6 record, as did the 1952 group. The Tigers had a 16-4 record in 1954, won the Sunshine Tournament at Portales, New Mexico, and finished in the runner-up spot in CIC play.

Characteristic of this season's winning team and Suran's style of play are the fast break, set offense revolving around a high post, and the wagon-wheel offense that has been spectacular against a man-to-man defense.

Statistics reveal one important aspect of the Tigers' success; they made 42% of all field goal attempts and 69% from the free-throw line.

Climaxing the best season in the school's history, the Fort Hays State basketball team won the CIC championship for the first time since 1950, and within a week, won the playoff for the right to represent Kansas in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City, March 9-14.

The Tigers held an 18-2 record in regular season play and won the first two playoff games from the Ottawa Braves to win a berth in the twenty-second NAIA tournament.

Bill Ehlers, one of the regular Tiger guards, graduated at the end of the first semester. Dean Larson, K-State transfer, became eligible and filled the vacated spot in the starting lineup.

Ottawa University, champion of the Kansas Conference, came to the Sheridan arena for the first of the three-game series. The Tigers put on a fabulous shooting display to win 86 to 71 for a perfect record on the home court in ten starts. At Ottawa the following night the Tigers defeated Ottawa again, 79 to 70.

The UPI selected Coach Cade Suran as the Coach of the Year. Leading scorer of the season, Merl Sturd, won a first-team spot on the UPI and CIC all-conference team. NAIA TOURNAMENT

The Tigers got off to a blazing start, defeating Westminster College of Ogden, Utah, 70 to 63. Then Arkansas State of Jonesboro fell before the Bengals 59 to 49. Moving into the semi-finals in the third game, an inspired Tiger team almost outdid itself, scoring 98 to 83 over West Virginia Wesleyan. Exhausted, plagued with flu, but still fighting, the Tigers then dropped their last two games to Pacific Lutheran and Southwest Texas State to finish fourth in the tourney.

Excitement reached an all-time high as Fort Hays State entered its first NAIA tourney. As the winning streak progressed, the Tiger section in K. C. grew, until Municipal Auditorium held almost as many familiar faces as Sheridan Coliseum. On Saturday night the team was presented the trophy; Merl Sturd and Gary Casey received watches for selection on the all-tournament second team.

Back on campus, the coach and squad received a standing ovation in a special assembly—a fitting finale to a spectacular season.

Our story is a colorful and busy one—with its dances, parties, informal gab sessions, football and basketball games, organization meetings and the books studied late at night.

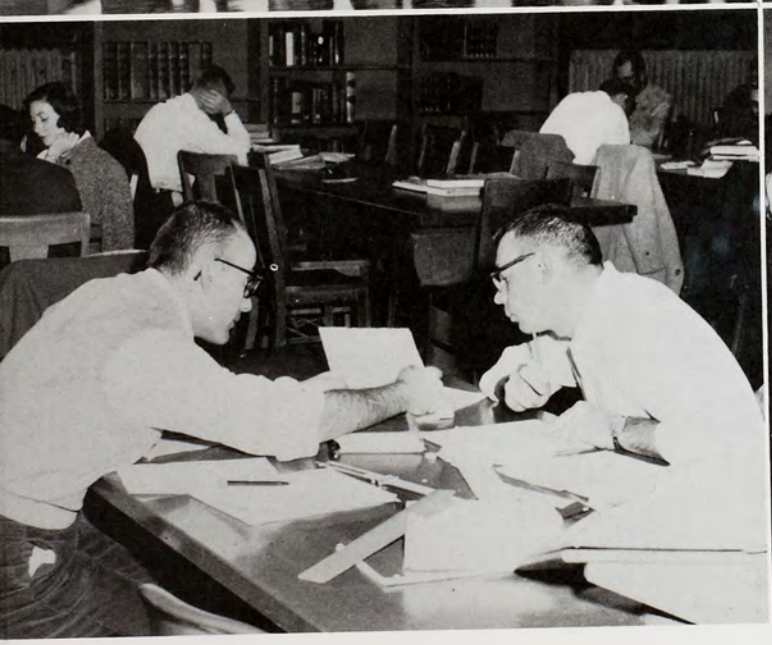

As we reach our goal of graduation and education, we remember the obstacles overcome day by day. These memories formed of people and events during the year will be recalled with the reading of the story.

Each segment pictured in our book—classes, athletics, organizations, faculty and administration and royalty — all make up the story of the year . . .

STORY OF THE YEAR . . .

"How can one girl have so many boxes?" wonder members of APO, service fraternity, as they help move students into the dormitories.

Campus residence halls, sorority and fraternity houses, Hackberry Trailer court and Lewis Field apartments begin to fill. Carrying armload after armload of clothes, boxes, books, and suitcases into your campus homes, you make new acquaintances and greet friends.

Another school year is launched. Using the Orientation booklet as a guide, you are introduced to the fast pace of campus life and to other students. You become Fort Hays Staters.

Sign up here, the Union committees welcome volunteers.

Books in arms, these freshmen apprehensively cross the Custer Hall bridge . . .

BELOW: Mr. and Mrs. Burnie Horton look on as Matt Benton presents Martin Kirtland with the music to the original song "Open Up the Union."

During Orientation Week you participate in social, recreational and religious activities. President Cunningham officially welcomes you and your parents to the Fort Hays State campus. Following this opening convocation in Sheridan Coliseum, the churches of Hays open their doors to welcome and introduce their facilities to you.

Mrs. Landrum chats with Helen Shearer and her aunt over a cup of punch at the Union open house.

Engrossed in conversation with Dr. Sackett are Mary Shaffer and Kay Smith.

ENROLLMENT AND CLASSES BEGIN . . .

Monday morning appointments with advisers, choosing a curriculum, checking in the Registrar's Office or taking tests, all are crammed into your busy schedules. Group sessions designed to present special information are sponsored by the Women's Leadership Organization, Seventh Cavalry, student leaders and members of the Honors Seminars.

AT LEFT:

1. This student has plenty of help as he enrolls. 2. Marvel Albin and Marion Dreiling hand Jim Gilbert and his friend their car registration cards. 3. Making her last stop, Diana Coddington pays her tuition.

Balmy fall weather accompanies the first days of school.

Ken Griffin applies lipstick as Claude Hansen holds Nancy Mitchell to prevent escape.

Enrollment begins Tuesday morning and the hectic process of trying to get into already closed classes, or rearranging a confused schedule, or smiling at a camera for your ID picture, or writing your name fifty times in the enrollment booklet—all become reality for you. It is with a sigh of relief that you reach the end of the line in Forsyth Library.

An information booth has been set up between Picken Hall and Sheridan Coliseum to supply you with advice and information.

Despite the fullness of your schedules, you find time to attend the President's openhouse and the "Hello" dance, to become better acquainted with the faculty at the student-faculty picnic and the square dance.

Thursday morning classes begin, and the campus settles into a calmer routine.

Anxious for the opening of the Memorial Union, Carolyn Lockman, Sharon Troutman and LaDene Votruba discuss campus activities.

Norman Cousins answers questions at an informal coffee hour held in his honor.

Movies are one of the Union's many features.

LOWER: Other Greeks give the park fence a new coat of paint.

Virginia Ramsey pins a registration tag on her father as her mother looks on.

In addition to their search for knowledge, Fort Hays State students broaden themselves through social activities. As the new social center on campus, the Memorial Student Union serves the college well.

Officially dedicated October 18 during the Homecoming celebration, the Union becomes a meeting place for alumni, students, faculty, and guests.

Immediately after Homecoming the Union facilities are launched into a busy schedule. With the snack bar opening October 30 the students begin to assemble daily for coffee, card games, billiards, ping pong and television. A major service, the Cody Cafeteria, is put into use November 18. The Union office schedules all social events, while the Union committees work to present many programs and activities —some of a broad, general appeal, with others aimed at only a small interest group. As the year progresses there are art exhibits, movies, numerous dances and concerts. Organizations hold business meetings and give all types of parties in Union rooms that were not available to them last year.

After years of planning, the Memorial Union is an actuality—a beautiful new building, one of which Fort Hays Staters may well be proud.

Ila Hulett, Charles Hendrix and Margaret Stapleton chat with Miss Katharine Nutt after her lecture, "Indian Kaleidoscope."

Lynn Kaye, Carol Booth, Judy Belisle and Kay Eckel drink coffee with President and Mrs. Cunningham as they attend the Faculty Women's Tea.

Students dance at one of the many Union-sponsored events.

Agnew Hall girls enjoy an informal hula hoop session.

HOMECOMING

Highlighting the homecoming activities is the long awaited dedication of the Memorial Union. The Rev. Wilbur DeYoung, '38, gives the dedicatory address Saturday morning. Assisting him on the speaker's platform are: Mr. James Start, Dr. Otis Dickey, Dr. Donald Stout, and Larry Kopke.

A plaque commemorating graduates and former students who died while in service is unveiled by Larry Kopke, president of the Student Council. The program is closed with the playing of taps.

About 270 alumni and friends attend the annual banquet in the Black and Gold ballroom. Mrs. Nita Landrum, chairman of the homecoming committee, is honored.

The Homecoming Queen candidates are: LaVonne Bridges, Bonnie Rogers, Justine Beatty, Bonnie Harbaugh, Sybil Henry, Yvonne Smith, Erma Fross, Dianne Miller, and Sylvia Kaiser.

"Let's go, Tigers!"—spirits are high as the cheerleaders and the Tigerettes boost morale just before the Homecoming Parade.

Anticipation of Homecoming festivities after last year's cancellation reaches a high pitch as you work to complete house and float decorations. The schedule of activities begins to unfold for you as more than 900 alums register. During this registration you with other Fort Hays Staters form a huge serpentine parade and advance to the Custer Hall bridge and the banks of Big Creek for the pep rally and traditional tug of war. Shouts ring out as the sophomores pull the freshmen into the muddy creek. Beanies must be worn until Thanksgiving.

A special treat is given you, alums, other students and faculty in the form of a concert by Blanche Thebom, noted mezzo soprano star of the Metropolitan Opera.

Big Creek was filled with freshmen after the tug of war.

Miss Blanche Thebom is surrounded by admirers Carol Kuhlman, Charlotte Baker, Mary Ellen Malmberg, and John Harris following her concert.

Pete Womachil, Denis Shumate, and Fred Christian put finishing touches on their tiger before the judging of floats and house decorations.

With this exotic float Tau Kappa Epsilon won first place in the men's division.

The Homecoming parade complete with tigers, gorillas, thirty high school bands, nineteen floats, the mounted Seventh Cavalry, new, foreign and sports cars, hula hoops, the queen and her court, all led by the Marching 100.

Organized houses are transformed from the ordinary to the unusual as they apply the theme of "famous slogans" to house decorations.

These little monkies rode the SNEA float to first place in the combination division.

The tiger twins hitch a ride during the Homecoming parade.

A tiger lily dominated the Theta Sigma Upsilon float and the Thetas dominated the judging, winning first in the women's division and the Sweepstakes prize.

The Marching 100 form a heart as the Queen is crowned.

The Homecoming Queen, Justine Beatty, beams on the crowd at the game. Her escort is Larry Kopke, president of Student Council.

Queen Justine Beatty reigns as the Fort Hays State Tigers plunge to victory over Pittsburg State. The calendar of events is climaxed with a Homecoming dance in the Black and Gold Ballroom of the Memorial Union. Tired but happy, you agree it's been a tremendous Homecoming.

The Queen and her court stand at attention as the band plays. They are: LaVonne Bridges, Tom Gilmore, Marcelene Harper, Larry Kopke, President Cunningham, Justine Beatty, Darrell Schaffer, Jerry Koeppen, Yvonne Smith, and David Mosier.

President Cunningham presents roses to Queen Justine Beatty.

Proudly clutching their first place trophies for float and house decorations are Boyd Limes, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Connie Eaton, Theta Sigma Upsilon; and Eugene Velharticky, Student National Education Association.

Fred Christian, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Dick Fisher, Wesley Foundation, Marcelene Harper, Sigma Sigma Sigma, and Paul Nelson, Men's Residence Hall, display their plaques for second place in house and float entries.

The Queen of 1958 poses with former queens at the Homecoming dance.

As the calendar progresses, campus entertainment is provided for you by dramatic and music productions or by the organizations to which you belong.

Winners of the intramural square dance contest, Larry Bradfield, Marlene Bender, Meredith Ihrig, Gary Hanna, Gerald Wanker, Celeste Butner, Kay Kaufman, and Danny Erbert, represent Sigma Sigma Sigma and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Guests at the Artists' Ball came as characters from famous paintings.

BERNADINE

The Little Theater group, directed by Miss Harriet Ketchum, assistant professor of speech, presents "Bernadine" October 30-31. Picken Hall is filled to capacity both nights as the curtain rises. The Mary Coyle Chase play shows family relationships and emphasizes problems of adolescents and their solutions to these problems. While light and humorous on the surface, the play has some important things to say about parents and their attitudes concerning their children.

The entire cast of "Bernadine" takes a curtain call.

"Beau" gives "Gibbs" a little advice as the gang looks on.

Selma gives the boys a cold shoulder.

Miss Ketchum and student directors Bill Catlin and Charlotte Baker discuss a program.

"Wormy," Lloyd Magers, quarrels with "Selma," Vera Russell.

DON COSSACK CHORUS

A Don Cossack dancer performs his sword dance specialty.

The Don Cossack chorus and dancers, directed by General Platoff, provided entertainment November 18.

The Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers perform a large and varied program of Cossack war songs, Russian folk tunes and gypsy songs. Nicholas Kostrukoff, director, organized the group in 1927; since that time they have given over 6,700 concerts on five continents.

GUYS AND DOLLS

For two nights Damon Runyon's colorful characters provide light-hearted entertainment as "Guys and Dolls" is presented November 25-26 in the Hays High School Auditorium.

Rosa Lee Hirt played Miss Sarah Brown, the "mission doll" who meets Sky Masterson, played by Jerry Stafford. Miss Adelaide, Elizabeth Higgins, does her best to snare Nathan Detroit, Don Moses, who is proprietor of the floating crap game. They were supported by a cast of 13 and assisted by a chorus, dancers, extras and an orchestra.

Donald E. Stout, assistant professor of music, directed the annual Fort Hays State Choir show. The proceeds are used for Concert Choir scholarships.

Killing time, Fred Christian and Larry Parsons survey a passing doll.

The "Guys" get into a little argument.

The crapshooters are at their favorite pastime again.

The "Save-A-Soul Mission" members drum up business.

RUSH WEEK

Formal sorority rush begins Sunday, November 16, after three weeks of "coke" dating. Each sorority gives their house a final inspection while the freshman girls dress carefully and adjust their hats. At 2 p.m. the "rush" officially begins with 69 rushees registering at each sorority house.

Monday evening the parties begin and extend through Saturday morning. From 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. the suspense mounts. Both sorority girls and rushees cross their fingers and wait while bids are being matched. Finally, the new pledges are welcomed with open arms.

Meeting a requirement of rush Judy Belisle signs the guest book as Lynn Kaye and Sylvia Kaiser look on.

When the shouting dies away, forty-three women are pledges of the five sororities.

Virginia Wood and Diane Amos receive from Panhellenic Council representatives their envelopes which contain their party invitations.

Rushees and members of Alpha Sigma Alpha meet at the refreshment table.

Kathy Smith chats with Roberta Hecox as Linda Luke and Joan Fink sip coffee.

Theta Sigma Upsilon entertains rushees at their house.

Rushees form a line as Sandra Boos and Eldred Gustavson serve them.

Playing games, girls? Celeste Butner is surrounded by freshmen.

The Thetas turn artistic for their second party.

ABOVE: Mrs. Robert Spangler and Jean Cromwell become better acquainted with freshmen, Judy Belisle and Jean Moody.

BELOW: Delta Zetas entertain at their "Flame Fantasy."

REVEILLE BALL

Opening the campus Christmas social season, the Reveille Ball is held December 6th in the Black and Gold ballroom.

Against a backdrop of a replica of the cover which reveals for the first time the design of the 1959 Reveille, Bob Berger and his orchestra furnish music for several hundred couples.

Commander Charles Brendler, Director, United States Navy Band.

Dr. L. D. Wooster, president emeritus, congratulates Kay Ann after crowning her.

During intermission, couples descend to the lounge.

AND A QUEEN IS CROWNED . . .

At ten o'clock the beauty queen and princesses as chosen by Commander Charles Brendler, director of the United States Navy band, will be announced. Excited guesses are made as to the queen's identity as the crowning time draws near.

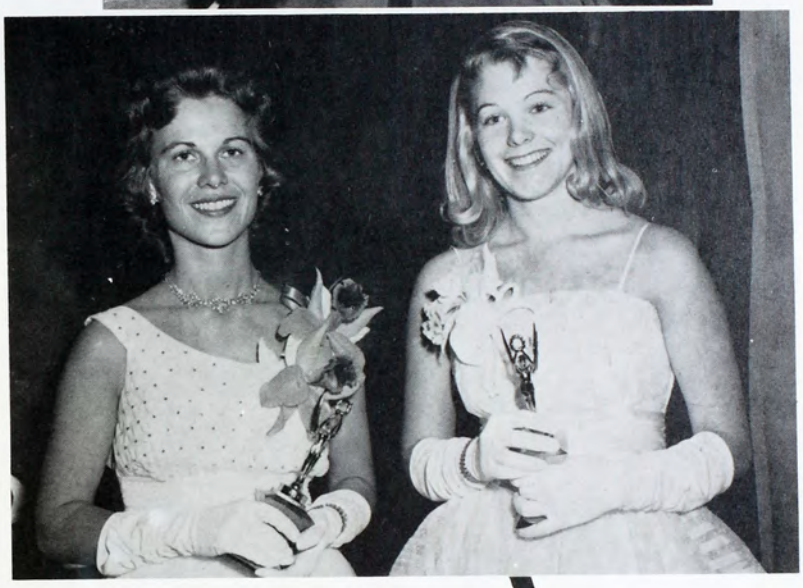

The band plays a fanfare, and Cap Middlekauff, master of ceremonies, introduces the eight candidates, their escorts and Dr. L. D. Wooster, president emeritus, to whom the book is dedicated and who will crown the queen.

The letter containing the big news is opened for the first time, and Cap reads the selection of princesses. Mary Desbien, assistant editor, presents them trophies.

The big moment arrives—Kay Ann Kaufman is announced and crowned queen of the Reveille ball. Congratulating the queen, editor Deanna Lockman presents her with a dozen red roses and her trophy. Immediately following the crowning, the queen's proud escort leads her and the royal court to the dance floor.

Strains of music drift across the campus from the Black and Gold ballroom, and the Christmas season is launched.

ABOVE: Queen Kay Ann smiles happily.

BELOW: Reveille Princesses, Jeris Belisle and Lois Boone, display their trophies.

The candidates and their escorts dance after the crowning ceremony.

Eleanor Zohmer and Max Hilgers greet Santa as he descends the Union staircase.

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON . . .

Snow and Santa Claus come, and spirits are gay. Music becomes prominent as the Christmas season advances. The first of several musical events is presented by the Hays College-Community Orchestra.

"Fantasia on Christmas Carols" is the closing number of the Christmas Vespers sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha. A concert from the roof of Sheridan Coliseum by the Brass Choir rounds out the musical presentations.

Fun, cold hands and feet, and later, a cup of hot chocolate are ingredients for an informal Christmas caroling party.

The audience participates in the Vespers program.

The Hays College-Community Orchestra receives applause after its concert in the Black and Gold Room.

Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha present the Christmas Vespers.

Agnew Hall girls and their dates prepare for a caroling tour.

FREE COFFEE DAY

"Coffee?" Today, faculty members serve free coffee, the Union's Christmas gift to you. As Christmas music is heard throughout the Union, a day of busy celebration begins.

During the morning a Christmas tree decorated with greeting cards from campus organizations is presented to Dr. and Mrs. Cunningham by the Union Committee.

Children of students and faculty fill the lounge in the afternoon as they enjoy a party held in their honor.

After the concert by the Fort Hays State Orchestra, dance music is provided by the Phi Mus in the Cody Room. The "Blue Christmas" dance concludes the Union activities for the day.

Paula Schumacher, representing the Union Program Council, presents Christmas card tree to Dr. and Mrs. Cunningham.

Mrs. McFarland serves coffee to James Kepferle and Gerald Orr.

Singing Christmas carols, the Concert Choir opens the Christmas celebration in the Memorial Union.

"Fill it up, please." Mr. Keller cheerfully pours coffee for Lynn Wickizer as Gary Schonlaw waits his turn.

Christmas is also observed in the residences of students and faculty, with Christmas trees, decorated windows, and special dinners. Between classes, students attempt to finish their shopping, then they exchange gifts with close friends and pack for the trip home. Christmas Day finds the campus buildings standing silently waiting for the students to return from vacation.

Santa Claus entertains children during the children's Christmas party sponsored by the Union.

Student and faculty children chew on candy canes and listen to a story.

The Cody Room is turned into a "Blue Christmas" for the celebration.

Custer Hall's Christmas buffet brings the girls out in force.

Mrs. Helen Zimmerman, Dr. W. D. Moreland, Beverly Suchy, and Dr. Alden Flanders examine Custer's Christmas tree.

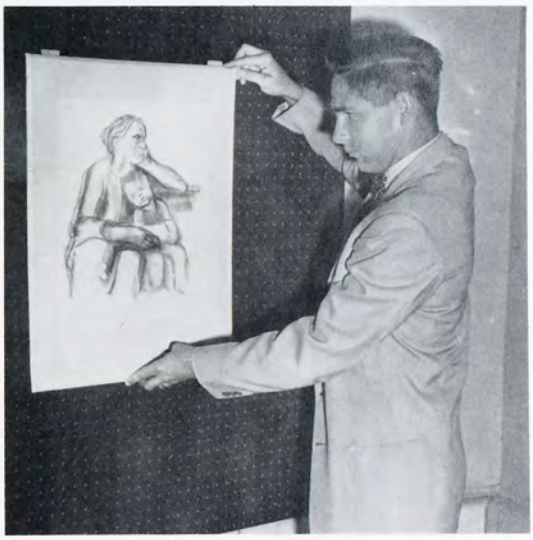

The library card catalogue is kept busy by students finishing their research papers.

Midnight oil, last minute cramming, notes, outlines and library research, every day you search for knowledge and skill. This search is made through the classrooms, contacts with instructors, the use of specialized instructors and equipment and the persistence of your probing. As you read about vitamins and apply this knowledge to planning menus, as you memorize the formulas and apply them in experiments, as you learn the principles of teaching a child to read and apply these principles in the classroom—all these and more—aid you in obtaining that which you seek, your education.

John Berland's "Flight into Egypt" is passed daily by students checking out books.

John Thorns hangs part of an art exhibit by Kaethe Kollwitz.

Browsing in the radio department.

Working out a chemistry experiment.

A grade school class visits the museum in Forsyth Library.

Brooks Kellogg, Bill Ohlemeier, and Phil Webber run through a broadcast in the radio department.

ENROLLMENT AGAIN . . .

After Christmas vacation and final test week, the second semester rolls around. You are again faced with the process of enrollment and especially a new system in the Memorial Union which is puzzling on paper but much simpler in practice.

Your schedule contains a new slate of classes, but your calendar is occupied with much the same events as first semester —a winning basketball team, Dylan Todd, national billiards tournament, pitch or pinochle in the Arapahoe room, Lotte Gosler's Pantomime Circus, movies, meetings and many, many others.

ABOVE: "We're in for a long wait."

BELOW: "I need your ID card, then on to your left, please."

Donna Lynn Casey watches as the photographer catches Mrs. Casey, Mrs. Whitmer, Mrs. Sturd and Mrs. Harris cheering for their husbands.

Diedra Burandt and John Harris perform at a varsity.

Terry Jackson lines up a shot.

Bob Koch inspects coming events.

Mr. Dalton adjusts Karen Seery's robe as King Howard Riedel stands by.

Sweetheart Queen candidates: Kay ImMasche, Beverly Suchy, Sandra Boos, Susan Reiter, Shirley Beeler, Karen Seery and Marjorie Thyfault.

KING AND QUEEN OF HEARTS ARE CROWNED . . .

Using the theme "With a Song in My Heart" the Union committees have planned big things and busily decorate the Black and Gold Ballroom for the Sweetheart Ball.

Larry Kopke, master of ceremonies, introduces the candidates and presents the princes and princesses, Shirley Beeler, Susan Reiter, Tom Fellers and Darrell Luthi. Karen Seery and Howard Reidel, selected by popular student vote, are announced King and Queen of Hearts. Performing the coronation honors is Standlee V. Dalton, registrar.

King candidates: Rod Hutton, Tom Fellers, Ralph Hilmes, Rodger Robben, Verne Stenzel, Darrell Luthi and Howard Reidel.

Who is the lucky girl Dave Mosier is buying Sweetheart Ball tickets for?

And the music plays on . . .

LEAP WEEK

Leap Week is here again, March 22-28, and the tables are turned. You must carry books, open doors, provide cigarettes for the men or face trial at 3:30 Tuesday and Thursday in the Memorial Union.

The Bearded Joe and Daisy Mae contest is in full swing. With a penny you may cast a vote for JoLynn Fredickson, Mary Bowen, Elgerine Roth, Patricia Scheck, Linda Luke or Ann Estes for Daisy Mae. Bearded Joe candidates are: Ken Boomhower, Jim Goeken, John Hays, and Ralph Walker.

Leap Week is climaxed with the dance Friday night in the Black and Gold Ballroom. Elgerine Roth and Jim Goeken are presented plaques for Daisy Mae and Bearded Joe.

Sponsored by the International Relations Club, returns from Leap Week, the Daisy Mae and Bearded Joe contest and the dance are used to bring a foreign student to our campus.

ABOVE: Carolyn Bosler seats Loyal Temple before treating him to a coke—cigarettes—coffee.

BELOW: Vera Fross watches the camera as Dean Freeborn marks the vote on the board.

Bob Stillwell, president of I.R.C., presents the Daisy Mae and Bearded Joe plaques to Elgerine Roth and Jim Goeken.

"Thirty seconds to go," Richard Gilchrist, Erma and Vera Fross keep tab as Rex Wilson and Carolyn Lockman add their pennies.

Herb Hagman and Mary Terrell receive the prize for the best costume.

But college is not all play, the biggest aspect is the serious, the academic side. Whether it be writing a term paper or working out an experiment or student teaching, you are preparing for the attainment of your goal, an education.

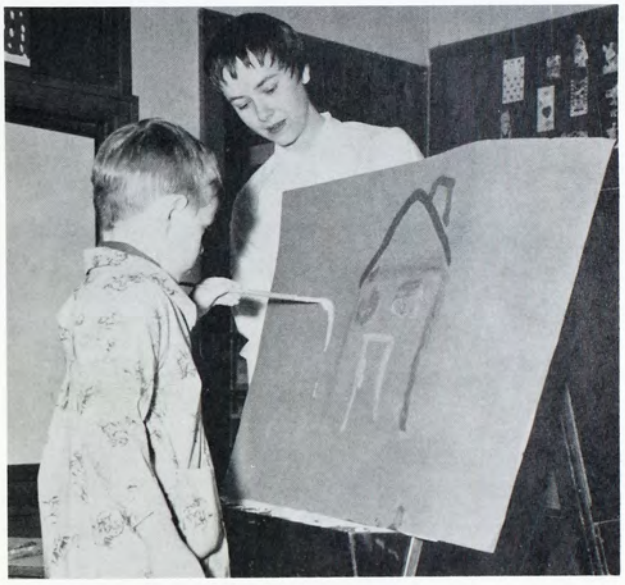

Your choice may be to become a teacher. You have observed instructors and their methods, now you have the opportunity to practice these methods.

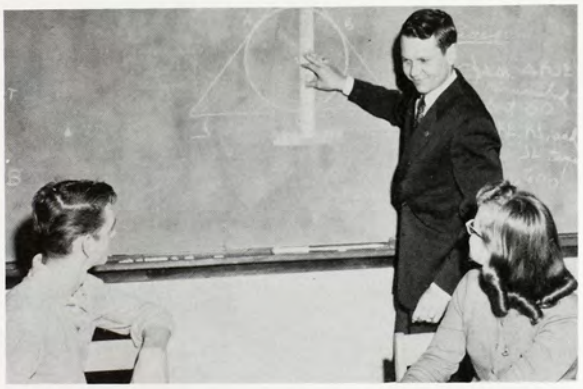

Knowledge is power.

Marilyn Wilkens displays cypress wood to second graders.

This budding artist is helped by Barbara Stephenson.

Use of the T-square is explained by Robert Christians.

"The knife is placed to the right of the dinner plate," explains Kathy Smith.

Harlan Berland demonstrates the square ruler.

Mr. Keller explains the operation of an adding machine.

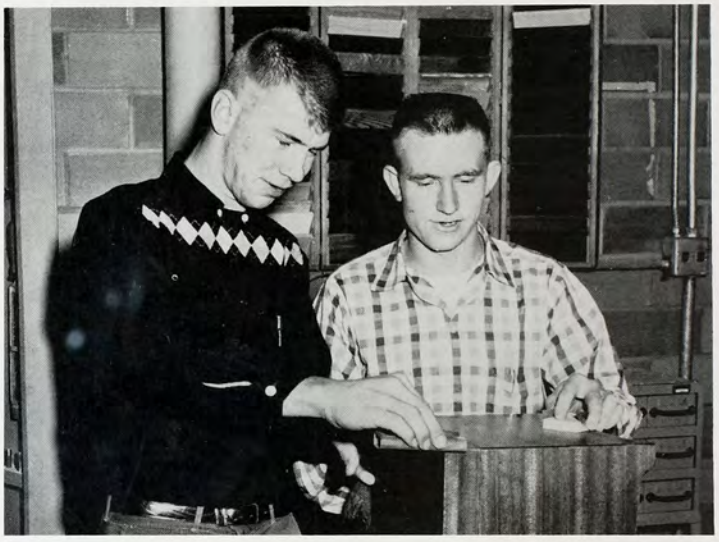

A light modulator is the object of Donna Stevens' concentration.

Dr. Doris Stage presents Jack Stout the outstanding chemistry student award.

Throughout each department, each hour of the day, students are engaged in the pursuit of knowledge. Instructors through lecturing and answering questions guide the searching of students.

The attainment of goals depends upon the application of each of you in your study and research.

Patience and "elbow grease" are the ingredients which give this small table a smooth surface for Leland Opliger and Delmer Thibault.

Pressing is but one step in the production of dressmaking for Mildred Peterson and Donna Heinze.

Charlotte Baker, LoRita Edwards and Dennis Urban look over the textbooks in the curriculum lab.

Folded by the hands of Kay ImMasche and Norman Ochs, the Leader brings you the campus news.

Jerry Vance and Don Wittig practice a few "hot licks" in one of the music department practice rooms.

Advanced acting students Charlene Goetz and Robert Phillips with the assistance of John Chambers, pianist, present their original "Recital for Three."

AND THEN SPRING . . .

As the weather warms and trees bud, your mind wanders to the outdoors. Steps become slower. The wind and snow are gone. Smiles are gayer. You no longer hurry to the Memorial Union for coffee breaks but pause and take part in the gab sessions which again populate the sidewalk and the edge of the fishpond.

The old saying goes "In spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of . . . ," and so it would seem across the campus.

Summer plans are made. Finals approach and the packing begins. Seniors look forward to the forthcoming Senior Week and Commencement exercises.

A convertible, a pretty girl, a spring evening—what more can a young man want?

The photographer catches this Fort Hays Stater cat-napping between classes.

Jack Wilson and Gay Paustian are oblivious to the camera.

ADVERTISING . . .

Our advertisers are those people who represent the city of Hays to the greatest number of us. We recognize and appreciate the cooperation between the city and the college. Mutual benefits are derived from the relationship which exists between the townspeople and the students. We cherish and strive to cultivate this relationship.

Our special thanks to those businessmen who have promoted student activities and who patronized the Reveille with their advertising . . .

Exam Week Returns To FHS

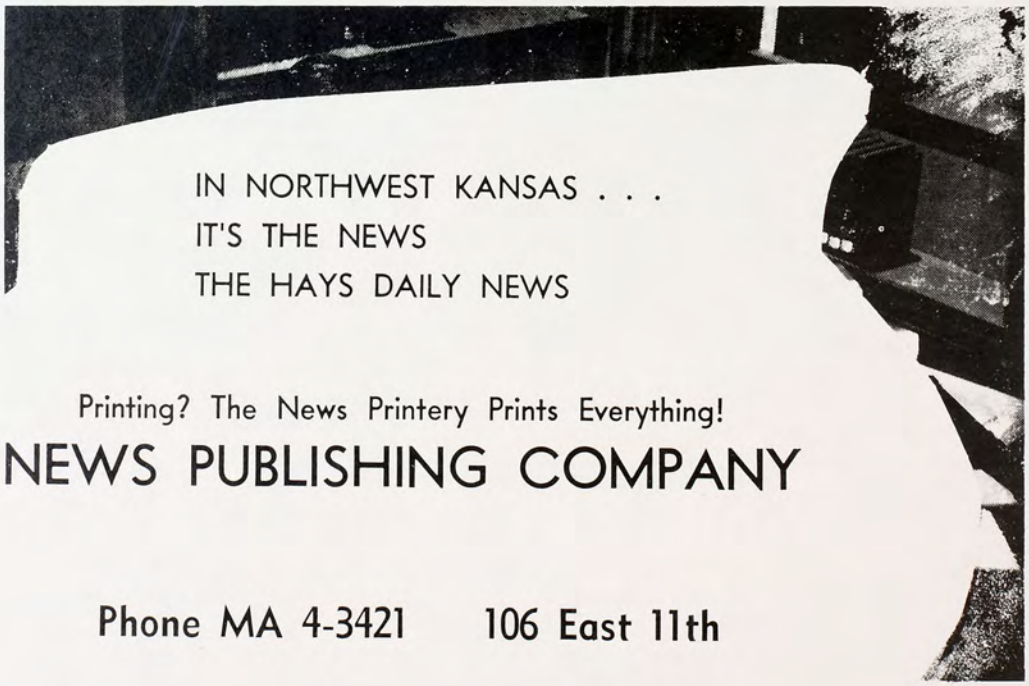

After a year's absence, Fort Hays State is returning to the system of scheduled final examination during an examination week. The schedule for next week's exams appears on page two of the Leader.

According to Dean E. R. McCartney, the college has returned to this method of testing after trying a system of no offi scheduled tests for a yea year's program did n many of the faults of ministration had be

Last year's system of no t was greeted with considerable criticism from the students but much of it seemed to be more for the sake of complaining rather than any specific flaws in the plan.

The Incomplete Story . . .

As you reach the end of the book you may have observed certain omissions in it. We have presented the portion of the story of the year available at the time of our final deadline date.

An innovation of the 1959 Reveille has been the assembling of a summer supplement which will be mailed to all students receiving yearbooks.

This addition is designed to fit into the main book between this page and the last page of the index section.

The part to come will include spring activities, sports and graduation. It is our idea through the supplement to present a more complete coverage of the year's story at Fort Hays State.

In Appreciation . . .

As the last of our copy is prepared, we think of those who have contributed their time, effort and cooperation to help make the 1959 Reveille a success.

A big vote of thanks is due the staff members who patiently spent long hours planning pages and photographs, writing copy and drawing up pages.

Without you, Mrs. Rogers, and your advice, guidance and answers to endless questions, we could never have completed our jobs.

You, the student body, faculty and administration, are to be commended for the cooperation we received, even though arranging a meeting, dressing up or standing in line to have pictures taken seemed a trial. Only with your help could we assemble a book that fully represents Fort Hays State.

We heartily thank the Memorial Union administration for accommodating our photographers and the groups to be photographed.

Paul McClellan and Taylor Publishing Co., this is your book, too.

Our thanks go to Larry's Studio for their photography, and to our advertisers.

Without the aid of these people, the 1959 Reveille would not have been possible.
